ABOUT ME

I am a detail-oriented full stack software developer with a strong background in accounting. My passion for problem-solving, coupled with my experience in both technical and financial domains, sets me apart as a versatile professional. Throughout my time at Dev Academy, I have not only expanded my technical knowledge and skills but also honed my communication abilities and aptitude for collaborative work. By combining accelerated problem-solving skills with a strong work ethic, I am driven to transition into tech industry and thrive as a valuable team member, making meaningful contributions along the way.
